

Step 1

The screenshot shows the ClassCharts interface for a user named Lewis Adams. The navigation menu on the left includes 'Behaviour', 'Announcements', 'Homework', 'Detentions', 'Attendance', and 'Rewards'. The 'Homework' option is circled in red. A blue arrow points from this circle to a text box that says 'Select the homework option on the pupil user'. The main content area displays a 'Behaviour score breakdown' donut chart with segments for 'Resilient +15', 'Achievement +5', 'Whole school a... +10', and 'Responsibility +11'. Below the chart is a 'Weekly Behaviour Breakdown' bar chart showing 'hour points' on the y-axis (0 to 20) and percentage on the x-axis (50% to 100%).

Step 3

The screenshot shows a date selection modal window. The modal lists various time periods: 'Next 30 days', 'Next 90 days', 'Next week', 'This week', 'Last week', 'Last 30 days', 'Last 90 days', 'Since August', and 'Custom'. The 'Since August' option is circled in red. A blue arrow points from this circle to a text box that says 'Select the option to show since August'.

Step 4

All homework that has not been marked as completed will now be visible including all work set for quarantine students. Work has been set on class carts by Mrs Kerr but all queries and work must be directed to your subject teacher
